

Description and Rationale

Title

Palaistinē, a Greek PLO Serial

Project Description*

The PLO worked with its international offices to print serials abroad. This periodical is a monthly run printed in Athens, mainly in Greek, from 1984 to 1986.

Reasons for Consideration*

This Greek PLO serial is not found in other US collections, and it should be digitized to make PLO publications more accessible. It is a source for international relations with the group, shedding light on a history of Palestinian-Greek interactions. Past MEMP projects have also included the Japanese publication the PLO produced in Tokyo. To have this Greek publication digitized alongside it expands the pool of accessible resources from this organization.

Source and Holdings Notes

The collection covers April 1984 to February 1986 in 18 total issues, 16 mostly monthly ones and 2 special issues. There appear to be no gaps.

Physical Details

Made of paper, each folio is printed on both sides, equating 2 pages. 12 issues have 16 pages. The September special issues have 8 pages, and one issue has 18 pages, and three others have 24 pages. A few issues have page inserts. The total number of pages for this collection, including the inserts, is 298 pages.

Existing Reformatted Materials

None of the components of this title have been digitized.

Intellectual Property Considerations

The material was printed between 1984 and 1986. Copyright law applies, so this will need to be hosted on CRL's servers, but there are no other intellectual property considerations that need to be taken into account.
