

Description and Rationale

Title

The Islamic documents from al-Ḥaram aš-Šarīf in Jerusalem.

Project Description*

Several years ago I had the al-Haram al-Sharif microfilm reels digitized. I propose that CRL host these digitized materials to provide wider access.

Reasons for Consideration*

While the al-Haram al-Sharif documents are widely known, in part because of their mystique but also because of the published catalogue which is held by multiple institutions: <http://www.worldcat.org/oclc/14271076>. The documents themselves are tremendous primary sources but are only held by a few institutions, none of which are hosting the digital surrogates but rather only the microfilm which most institutions refuse lend. If CRL would host the documents, there would be greater access.

Authors

Donald P. Little.

Publishers

Beirut : Orient-Institut der Deutschen Morgenländischen Gesellschaft ; Wiesbaden : In Kommission bei F. Steiner, 1984. (This is for the catalogue.)

Proposal Contributors

Sean Swanick, Duke University.

Details and Sources

Resource Types*

- Archival materials

Regions*

- Middle East and North Africa

Countries of Origin*

Israel/Palestine

Major Languages

Arabic

Source Format*

- From digital

Target Format

Digital

Identifiers

Links

<https://mcgill.on.worldcat.org/oclc/1102813166>

Source and Holdings

Location	Format	Holdings/Range	Notes
McGill University & Duke University	Digital files	All 900 photographed documents are digital surrogates.	Digital files I can easily transfer to CRL via box. There are 4 files corresponding to the original 4 microfilm reels; each file is a pdf.

Source and Holdings Notes

I have all of the digital files in pdf form.

Physical Details

Existing Reformatted Materials

Intellectual Property Considerations

This content is in the public domain.